Apply direct to ANU

You can apply to study at The Australian National University (ANU) early by submitting a direct application between March and May. As well as helping you get your university application out of the way, applying directly is free and covers admission, scholarships and accommodation, and could see you receive an offer to study at ANU as early as August based on your Year 11 results.

Before you apply

Some things to consider before you apply to study at ANU.

1 Check that you're eligible to apply directly

To apply directly, you must be a domestic school leaver who is currently completing an Australian Year 12 certificate or the November session of the International Baccalaureate (IB) Diploma.

2 Consider which programs are best for you

ANU offers over 50 single bachelor degrees or you can combine your interests to create a flexible double degree from more than 750 possible options.

Some programs require you to have studied specific subjects in Year 12. Before you apply, make sure you have met the requirements of your chosen degree by checking the prerequisites.

You can discover which program suits your interests and career goals and any prerequisites by searching our programs and courses catalogue.

3 Make sure you meet the co-curricular or service requirement (CCS)

ANU requires you to demonstrate participation in activities outside the classroom as part of your application. CCS activities include playing a sport, looking after a family member, volunteering, music performance and more. Learn more about the co-curricular and service requirement.

4 Would you like a room on campus?

ANU guarantees accommodation to domestic school leavers. Let us know in your application if you would like us to consider you for a room in a student residence.

5 Tell us if you would like a scholarship

All you will need to do for us to consider you for a scholarship next year is tick the scholarships box when you're completing your ANU application. Some scholarships have additional application requirements, such as the Tuckwell Scholarship. Learn more about ANU scholarships.
